

TIMELY

Resolutions Adopted by German Roman Catholic Central Verein.

Interesting Suggestions Pointing For Social Reform Action.

Sees Need of Proper Industrial Education and Trade Training.

RECOGNIZE THE TRADE UNIONS

The resolutions adopted at the national convention of the German Catholic Central Verein, recently held at Buffalo, present an interesting study in more than one respect. The social resolutions, as an expression of the social programme of the Central Verein, are of special, timely interest. The preamble emphasizes the fundamental nature of nature and divine law as the basis of true social reform, and the close connection between the universal transgression of these laws and the present-day social question. Special stress is also laid on the need of constantly bearing in mind as our ultimate aim in social reform the reconstruction of society, not the mere treatment of symptoms. These fundamental thoughts must determine Catholics to use their influence for social betterment and to interest themselves in social politics and civic politics, and must also serve as their guide in all such efforts.

With these thoughts in mind, the reader is led to the consideration of a number of specific problems and means of treatment. The "beneficent movement" for the welfare of the people," as this thoroughly Christian movement has been called, considers the welfare of all classes of society, but directs its solicitude primarily toward the working class, as the most sorely oppressed and the weakest class and as that most endangered by radical propaganda. The Central Verein proclaims its unqualified endorsement of the right of organization of working men and working women, and regrets that this right is so frequently denied. On the other hand, the drafters of the resolution are not blind to the danger of abuse which is concomitant with the right of organization and raise their voice in warning against this abuse. They recognize the trade unions as the sole existing organizations through which workers can safeguard and advance the interests of their class and craft; they endorse the just and proper efforts of the trade unions, and recognize the right of the Catholic worker to labor in and with his union for better conditions. But they likewise insist on the duty of combating socialistic and other dire influences in the unions, lest the radical elements gain control and make it impossible for Catholics to retain their membership.

Solicitude for the "fifth estate" prompts the next resolution, which deals with the vast masses of unorganized laborers who, unprotected and helpless as they are, become an easy prey to exploitation on the one hand and to the radical agitation of the Industrial Workers of the World on the other. Missionary work and extensive personal and organized effort is necessary, in the so-called "labor camps" as well as in the cities, and that particularly among immigrants, immediately upon their arrival and afterward also. The Holy See has entrusted immigrants to the tender solicitude of their more fortunate brethren. This year's convention renewed its previous declaration asking for adequate control of woman and child labor, and insists that this question, in addition to being an economic one, is also a religious and an ethical question. The convention went on record as recognizing, in addition to other means, legally fixed minimum wages and legally determined maximum hours as aids for proper adjustment of this difficult question.

Another important resolution is the one treating of social services in favor of the middle classes, and the farmers in particular. "All true social politics," we read, "are primarily middle class politics." And justly so. Therefore the convention expresses its desire to co-operate, for permanent strengthening and advancement, with the small entrepreneur, the small "business man," storekeeper, the clerk, the office man, etc. This class is vitally necessary for the maintenance of society and must be strengthened. In addition the convention declared in favor of a pension system for civil service employees, and asked Congress to consider this recommendation favorably. The last social resolution favors the organization of Catholic women for charitable work.

It will be seen from all these resolutions that the Central Verein believes in practical and practicable work, in constructive effort and in instruction as an aid to all of this.

NOT FOR ADE.

George Ade, the American humorist, has this to say before leaving London for home Saturday: "I shall be glad to get back to a life of gaiety on my Indiana farm. Europe, with its repulsive gay life, is the dullest thing in the world. The most enjoyable part of my trip has been my visit to London. I like London in August, because then all the upper class people are away, and London is delightful. I have been surprised with this 'hands across the sea' and 'blood is thicker than water' talk. But can not see it. The English and Americans may be cousins, but the English can not place what degree of cousinship we occupy. It is so remote that it is non-existent, except when some orator feels the need to say something. Then everybody cheers the evergreen platitudes and promptly forgets them."

WHAT BISHOP REALLY SAID.

The Right Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Bishop of Toledo, who in April went to Rome with 112 pilgrims, including fifteen clergymen of his own diocese, and created a sensation by a speech read to Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State, returned last Saturday by the Cunarder Campania. He said the European press had magnified the significance of his utterances. He had suggested in his address on behalf of the pilgrims that all pilgrims should use their influence to have the spiritual rights of the church in Italy enlarged. This inspired the Roman press, whose editorials were reprinted in English publications, to attack the Bishop as an innovator, declaring that he was the first leader of pilgrims that had ever ventured to make suggestions as to the temporal government of Italy.

The Bishop said that he had had no quarrel with the Quirinal, and that he did not believe in interfering with the temporal affairs of Italy. There were some spiritual rights that had been taken from the Vatican which, he believed, should be restored. His Holiness could not designate what Archbishop or Bishop he might desire at a certain place without the consent of the monarchical government of Italy. The Archbishop of Rome could not assume his functions, although he had been appointed a year, because the Government was opposed to him. "All that we desire," the Bishop said, "is the same measure of spiritual liberty we have in America. You can not imagine President Wilson opposing the appointment or selection by the Catholic church of the Catholic church or any other church of the Bishop or Archbishop of its choice. There should be some agreement between the Quirinal and the Vatican by which the situation, intolerable from the viewpoint of the church, should be relieved or ended."

SACRED HEART SCHOOL.

Next Monday the Sacred Heart Commercial School, in connection with the parochial school at Seventeenth and Broadway, will open with high mass by the pastor, Rev. Father Walsh. Although the business department of this school has been established but seven years, it has met with the most gratifying success from the very beginning, and every indication points to an increase in attendance during 1913-14 over former years. About 200 pupils have been graduated from the commercial classes and been placed in splendid positions in some of the best offices in the city. In fact it has been difficult to supply the demand for stenographers and book-keepers from Sacred Heart. The graduates have an almae where they keep track of and assist each other in obtaining positions, thereby constituting a sort of an employment agency among themselves, which is direct and efficacious. The society has among its members many non-Catholics, who are doing great credit to their Alma Mater. It will be remembered that Sacred Heart school received the handsome A. N. Palmer medal for penmanship last year over all the other parochial schools in the city. The commercial department is under the capable and efficient direction of Sister Angelina, of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, who teaches book-keeping, together with the kindred branches, spelling, grammar, arithmetic and letter writing. Application should be made at once to Father Walsh or to Sister Angelina, at St. Ann's Home, Portland avenue.

WILL ENJOY TRIP.

Those who accompany Trinity Council, Y. M. I., to Mammoth Cave tomorrow will certainly enjoy the trip. A large and select party is assured, and Trinity's committee and the Louisville & Nashville management have made every arrangement for the comfort and enjoyment of the excursionists. The special train will leave Union Station, Tenth and Broadway, at 9 o'clock in the morning, arriving at the Cave before noon, when a special and bounteous dinner will be served at the Cave Hotel. The afternoon will be given over to tours through the historic and wonderful cave, the choice of routes being open to the visitors. Almost endless are the wonders and beauties of the Mammoth and adjacent caves. Each has its distinctive features, and the tour of one creates the desire to explore the others. This will be the last opportunity for many to make this trip and should be taken advantage of. The fare will be $5.50, and includes round trip ticket, hotel bill and cave fees. On the train returning, which will arrive here at 10:15, there will be an abundance of refreshments.

OUT TODAY.

County Assessor Edward A. Barry expects to come down to his office today, having been laid up at his residence in the Highlands this past week with a sprained ankle, but is now able to get around with the help of a cane. Some of his friends say that he pulled up lame, as the form sheet says, from an exhaustive stretch run in the recent campaign.

KENTUCKY

Favored For Chapter of American Irish Historical Society.

President Clarke Putting New Life Into This Growing Organization.

Now Numbers in Its Membership Men Prominent in Public Life.

NON-RELIGIOUS, NON-POLITICAL

The American Irish Historical Society has a new President, who is putting life into the organization. This President is Joseph I. C. Clarke, scholar, poet and journalist. Mr. Clarke, who is the author of many beautiful poems and also of various volumes of prose and poetry, has conceived the idea that the American Irish Historical Society should have a chapter in each State, and with this end in view has inaugurated a movement to form a chapter in Kentucky.

Kentucky has a fund of historic interest for the Irish, but little of it has been brought out. The American Irish Historical Society was organized for the purpose of drawing the attention of the American people to the part played by Irishmen in founding this republic. Historians have either neglected this or when they did write of the early history gave credit to others. The American Irish Historical Society is non-religious and non-political. Leading Catholics as well as Protestants are included in its membership. It publishes from year to year an account of the early Irish activities in this country, the volume being neatly printed. Distinguished scholars contribute to this valuable work.

Kentucky was populated in its early days by Irishmen. It matters not whether they were Catholic or Protestant—they were Irish. They fled from Ireland in order to be free to secure life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Irishmen are prepared by members of the society, and all are accurate. The society contemplates the Scotch-Irish myth and contends that there are "none such," and if there is to be any appeal attached to Irishmen it should be Irish-Scotch. Rather the society contends that plain Irish is good enough. A man should be proud that he is Irish—more so than if he were Scotch.

About fifteen years ago the American Irish Historical Society was organized in the East and Thomas Hamilton Murray was the Secretary. As a labor of love he prepared many papers, which are published in the archives and in neatly-bound volumes. The first Vice President of the organization, in Kentucky, was Edward Fitzpatrick, but afterward John Slattery was made Vice President for Kentucky. Mr. Fitzpatrick having severed his connection with Kentucky journalism to go to New Albany for the Courier-Journal and Times. The Very Rev. Andrew Morrissey, Vice President of Notre Dame University, is the present Vice President for Indiana, and James Thompson, the Main street distiller, is the Vice President for Kentucky. Mr. Thompson is so Irish that he has his firm name printed in Irish over his door step. Judge Matt O'Doherty and Lieut. Gov. Edward J. McDermott are also members of the society.

It is hoped by Mr. Clarke that Irishmen of ability and capable of writing history will now join the society. The dues are but $5 a year, and with this is given the privilege of securing the volume of historical papers. Distinguished men from all parts of the country are joining, and Mr. Clarke, in a letter to the editor of the Kentucky Irish American, expresses the hope that a chapter be organized in Kentucky. It is a patriotic movement in which every Irishman should be interested. It is not intended to make dollars by the organization, but rather to draw attention to the achievements of the Irish in early days.

ADDITIONS TO SCHOOLS.

At the opening of the fall term of Holy Trinity parochial schools in New Albany early in September a girls' high school department will be established in charge of Sister Aloysius Marie, who has had charge of the girls' eighth grade classes. Sister Aloysius Marie is one of the most competent teachers of advanced branches in the Sisterhood of Providence, which order has charge of Holy Trinity's schools. Sister Henrietta Marie, Sister Superior, will teach the girls' eighth grade classes. The new high school will open with three classes, freshman, sophomore and junior. It is expected that there will be thirty students, about ten in each class.

ST. MATTHEWS.

The people of St. Matthews will celebrate Labor day with a grand party, the proceeds to go to the fund for the new school Rev. John Bohlsen is erecting. There will be euchre and lotto and other amusements in the afternoon and evening and also an excellent meal for all. Take the Walnut and Crescent Hill cars to city limits or the country car on Fehr avenue. Father Bohlsen hopes to have the pleasure of meeting many of his city friends that day. The party will be held on Holy Trinity church grounds.

RECENT DEATHS.

Funeral services over the remains of George W. McCrackin, an aged Confederate veteran and father of Mrs. John Baskette, 2017 Maryland avenue, were held Sunday afternoon from St. Francis of Assisi church. His death resulted from an attack of heart trouble. Besides Mrs. Baskette he leaves another daughter.

Miss Augusta Goering, daughter of Mrs. Louise Goering, 1115 Goss avenue, died last Sunday of tuberculosis. She was a most amiable young lady with a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who deeply mourn her death. Besides her mother three brothers and five sisters survive her. The funeral was conducted Tuesday morning from St. Paul's church and was very largely attended.

Following a two weeks' illness of typhoid fever, John Raible, twenty years old and employed by the Louisville & Nashville railroad, died Tuesday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Raible, 1716 West Oak street. Besides his parents he is survived by three brothers and four sisters. He was an industrious and popular young man and many mourn his untimely death. The funeral was held Thursday morning, Rev. George Conner being the celebrant of the requiem mass at St. William's church.

Capt. John G. Staab, Union veteran and radio fireman and well known throughout the city, died suddenly Monday morning at his home, 830 East Broadway. He was seventy years old, and to one of his children on Saturday he expressed himself as feeling that his life's journey was near the end. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Reid Staab; two sons, John Staab, of Louisville, and Frank Staab, of Indianapolis; two daughters, Mrs. William Shiphurst, of Cleveland, and Miss Elizabeth Staab, of this city, and two grandchildren. He was a member of the Catholic Knights of America. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. John's church, of which he was a lifelong and faithful member.

BISHOP AT STITHTON.

The Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue visited Stithton this week and on Tuesday administered the sacrament of confirmation at St. Patrick's church to a class of 152 members of the congregation. While at Stithton the Bishop was the guest of the Rev. Father Rudolph Ruff, pastor of St. Patrick's. The occasion was a memorable one for the Catholics of that section and was attended by the Rev. J. L. Whelan, of St. Joseph's, Davies county, and Rev. J. S. Henry, of Cloverport, both of whom were formerly pastors at this church; the Rev. Fathers Celestine Brey, John B. Peffer, John D. Kallagher, Patrick Monaghan and Francis J. Keller, of Louisville; J. J. Abell, of St. John; Delphin Autheman, of Cecilia, and George Niehaus, of Flaherty.

ANOTHER SUCCESS SCORED.

The Hibernians of Louisville scored another distinctive success Tuesday evening, when they held their annual reunion and picnic at Phoenix Hill Park. Young and old from all parts of the city thronged the park and esplanade and presented a beautiful and inspiring scene. While the young men and women enjoyed the dancing and the promenades their seniors met old friends, renewed acquaintances and spent a most delightful evening. The President, Connelly and Thomas Tarry, James Welsh, John Maloney and John J. Barry deserve great credit for the success of this reunion, as does also the Ladies' Auxiliary. The County Board met Thursday night, and the reports submitted, though not complete, were most gratifying. Especially pleasing to those in charge was the character of the gathering, which attested the high standing of the Ancient Order in Louisville.

ABBOT OBRECHT SAILS.

The Right Rev. Edmund Obrecht, Abbot of the monastery at Gethsemani, sailed Wednesday for Europe, where he will spend several months on official business. He will attend a meeting of the Grand Chapter of the Trappist order to be held at Citeaux, France, and will visit his sister and other relatives in Alsace-Lorraine. The Abbot will also go to Rome for a private audience with Pope Pius and for conference with the Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda. He will report to the Pope the information secured by him a year ago when he made a trip around the world as a Papal delegate to the missionary Bishops and prelates apostolic of India, China and Japan. During his absence the Very Rev. Father Patrick Dunn, the Prior, is in charge at Gethsemani. Since leaving Louisville Abbot Obrecht spent a few days at the Trappist Monastery of Our Lady of the Valley, near Providence, R. I.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Interest in Mackin Council affairs this week centered in the Social Club meeting, held Wednesday night, when an organization for the coming season was perfected and George J. Thornton elected President. This club will continue the fall and winter reception dances that have been so popular with the young people of this city. With the summer ended activity will now be resumed, and it is expected that another big initiation will take place this fall.

MOUNTAINS

Made Out of Political Rumors by the Press of Great Britain.

Ulster Farce and Sir Edward's Gallery Play Amusing London.

The Asquith Cabinet Will Not Undergo Any Marked Change.

STRENGTHENING LLOYD GEORGE

News from London the past week has been rather unimportant, the only interesting observation being contained in Philip Everett's cablegram, which here follows:

These are the days when even serious newspapers are often forced to worry along on a no more substantial diet than stories of sea serpents and gossip from the bathing resorts, and are glad to grasp any political rumor, no matter how mysterious its origin or how flimsy its tale. Fortunately for newspaper writers, the crop of political summer rumors is rather above the average, thanks to the troublous time in which we are living. Really I can not imagine what we would find to write about now if we were living under a Conservative Government, with harmonious co-operation between the House of the people and that of the Lords, and no prospect of home rule or land taxes to play in the horizon as heat lightning.

But as I said, the crop of rumors is rather abundant, and almost every week we hear of a planned rearrangement of the Cabinet. While some of these rumors are too absurd to mention, especially as it is known that Mr. Asquith is not in favor of any important changes, there is every reason to believe Dr. McNamara will enter the Treasury department, to strengthen the hand of Lloyd-George during the land campaign, when the Attorney General shall have been made Lord Chief Justice of England. It is also almost certain that a change will be made in the Local Government Board, though it will not necessarily be John Burns leaving the Cabinet. That the Postmaster General has long wished to be transferred to a higher position is no secret to anybody, and any one who uses the telephone in England most heartily hopes that his wish may be granted.

Aside from these rumors we have the Ulster farce to keep us supplied with interesting news, though probably no one any longer takes it seriously. Among its most amusing recent feature has been the play of Sir Edward Carson's play to the gallery. His attempts to make the child-like Conservative voter believe that he is bravely incurring the danger of arrest and daring the Government to lay hands on him as a bold, bad man, planning to commit high treason, have simply been irresistibly funny. No man in the country knows better than Sir Edward himself that no matter how violent in speech he will never be in danger of arrest, not only because he is personally exceedingly popular with the members of the Government, several of whom are his best chums, but also because no one for a moment thinks of taking him seriously when he plays the part of the political villain.

"To be sure," a leading Liberal paper wrote about him the other day, "Sir Edward's speeches are violent, but his intension is merely hypothetical. In the case of the suffragettes the words are followed by acts, but in Sir Edward's case the only result is applause, and applause of so amiable an orator is not a crime. The alleged warrant is a fairy tale, doubtless intended to stimulate a flagging campaign. If the Government were taking Sir Edward seriously the first step would be to strike his name off the Privy Council, but he remains 'Right Honorable,' his oath of allegiance is still in force, and at the bar he continues to wear silk. The fact is that revolution, however admirable as a presentation blackthorn with which to threaten the Cabinet, bears a very different aspect when it is seen that the monarchs do not frighten the imperial authority. Sir Edward is bound to go on talking wildly, but the financial interests of Belfast are dead against a policy of extremes."

ANNA KELLY DEAD.

Mrs. Anna Kelly, sixty years of age, widow of Patrick Kelly, passed to her eternal reward Saturday morning at her sister, Mrs. Eugene J. Henchey, has gone to West Baden Springs for a short sojourn before returning to Kansas City, where he is now stationed. For the past five years Father Kelly has been on the Eastern missions. While in this city he met many of his friends. Father Kelly is a Louisville boy and was a few years ago stationed at St. Louis Bertrand's church. He is a nephew of Judge Matt O'Doherty and has numerous relatives here.

CATHEDRAL REOPENED.

This week took place the reopening of the venerable and historic St. Louis Cathedral at New Orleans, which has been closed for repairs during the past several months. The work of strengthening the foundations and other parts of the building which required attention has been thoroughly done, and the ancient edifice is now in perfect condition so far as safety is concerned. It will be a source of deep satisfaction not only to the parishioners of the Cathedral, but also to the Catholics of the city at large, that the feast of St. Louis, the patronal feast of the archdiocese, will be celebrated within these venerable walls with all the accustomed splendor of former years. The feast fell on Monday, but the celebration of it is transferred to tomorrow, the Sunday following, as has been the custom heretofore.

COLLEGE OPENING.

St. Xavier's College will reopen next Tuesday with holy mass in the college hall, celebrated by the Very Rev. Father Deppen. The coming session closes a half century epoch in the work of the institution, and the Xavierian Brothers, who conduct the college, are to be congratulated on the progress they have made during this period. St. Xavier's was opened in 1864 in a small house located on a portion of the ground now occupied by the new St. Boniface school. In 1866 the institute was moved to a building on Fourth avenue, where the north wing of St. Joseph's Infirmary stands. In 1890 the spacious grounds and palatial residence now occupied by the Brothers were purchased, and ten years later a building, impressive in size and beautiful in architecture, was erected. The interior of the building is complete in its equipment and finely adapted to the needs of such an institution. It has been the aim of the Brothers to keep the college abreast of similar institutions noted for efficiency of work and high standard. It should be a matter of pride and satisfaction to them that they have so well succeeded, as the thousands of young men whom they have trained and fitted for life amply attest. Their alumni are found in every walk of life and are known to be men of high principle and professional and business attainments. To have in their midst such an institution is one of the greatest advantages a Catholic community can enjoy, and Catholic parents should take advantage of the opportunity St. Xavier's affords to give their sons an education which will prepare them for life here and hereafter.

The college affords the choice of three courses—the classical, the scientific and the business course. These courses are designed to meet the requirements of students who are preparing for the university, technical school or business.

TOMORROW'S EXCURSION.

From all indications the excursion to be given tomorrow to Jasper, Ind., by the Catholic Knights of Louisville will in every way surpass any ever given over the Southern railway. For weeks committees here and in Jasper have been perfecting the arrangements and not a single detail has been overlooked. There has been a great demand for tickets and it is expected the excursionists will number at least 500. Chairman Ben Kruse, Charles Hill, William T. Meehan and Charles Falk have arranged the programme for the excursion, which will be on the arrival in Jasper by the Star Band and the local Knights, who will act as escort to Maple Park, where there will be a band concert and refreshments. At 2:30 there will be a baseball game on the Jasper College campus between teams selected by Ben Kruse and Capt. Kunkel and representing Louisville and Jasper. After the game there will be amusements and a good time at the park. Thursday word was received from Capt. Kunkel that the hotels and restaurants would grant special rates and that for all there would be everywhere a hearty welcome. Round trip tickets will be $1.50 for children and $2.00 for adults. The train will leave the Union Depot, Seventh and the river, at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

SPENT MERRY NIGHT.

There were "some doings" at the Columbia Athletic Club meeting Tuesday night. All the members were notified that it was to be a "special" in two parts. For the first the Board of Directors presented their report, which was important but most satisfactory. It showed this popular organization in a most prosperous condition and the club rapidly reducing the home debt. The second part was a surprise party. Ben Brunlove in honor of the arrival of a prospective member of this club. He proved a genial host and all enjoyed his hospitality. It was only when he was called on for a speech that he showed any agitation, but he managed to get through all right. It was a really jolly night for the Columbians, who invite all their friends to visit their club house, which has undergone many improvements.

VISITS HIS OLD HOME.

Rev. J. B. Kelly, O. P., who has been spending the past three weeks here with his sister, Mrs. Eugene J. Henchey, has gone to West Baden Springs for a short sojourn before returning to Kansas City, where he is now stationed. For the past five years Father Kelly has been on the Eastern missions. While in this city he met many of his friends. Father Kelly is a Louisville boy and was a few years ago stationed at St. Louis Bertrand's church. He is a nephew of Judge Matt O'Doherty and has numerous relatives here.

OFFICE FOR BRIGHT.

His many Louisville friends were pleased this week when they learned that it had been announced at Frankfort that State Auditor Henry M. Bosworth had selected Capt. Edward Bright as a deputy fire marshal under Fire Marshal C. C. Bosworth. According to the report the appointment will become effective September 1.

POLITICS

Directly Responsible For Present Exposures in Local Post Office.

Present Conditions Flat Denial of Former Flowery Statements.

Democrats Preparing For an Aggressive Fall Campaign.

NO GROSS ELECTION FRAUDS

The exposure of a shortage of accounts in the local Postoffice this past week, with a promise of more arrests to follow, is but a vindication of the statements which appeared in the columns of the Kentucky Irish American from time to time to the effect that politics were rampant in the Postoffice in addition to discrimination, and that the public of Louisville were far from receiving a first class service, this statement being made again and again in spite of the fact that the four daily papers were printing laudatory articles of Postmaster Robert Woods and Assistant Postmaster John Morey, and only recently when the forthcoming resignation of Woods was announced, a complimentary notice of our local postal service appeared in the daily press. In all probability in the case of a wholesale scandal the same papers will again appear with the statement of "improved postal service under Woods."

The testimony in the O'Donnell case proved conclusively that politics were played in the Postoffice, civil service regulations were a myth, and that Postmaster Woods and his assistant encouraged religious discrimination (which itself is a violation of civil service) by taking prominent part in an anti-Catholic demonstration. Furthermore, it is being rumored, and which rumor some of our daily papers have heard but did not publish, that Postmaster Woods was forced to resign.

In direct contrast to the conduct of the above officials nothing, but praise is heard on all sides for United States Marshal George Loez and Internal Revenue Collector Ludlow Petty, who have the good opinion of all, regardless of creed and politics, their conduct of their public trusts being meritorious in the extreme. Both staunch Republicans, they are a credit to their party. With the return of Frank McGrath, who is expected home today, the plans for the Democratic campaign will be formulated and headquarters secured at the Tyler Hotel. Many speakers have already professed their services, and broadside after broadside will be poured into the Herald-Progressive ticket, which is a frail affair, to say the least, and when the X rays of the Democratic searchlight are turned in its direction the Louisville Herald will be kept busy writing its daily apology for the misfit affair which is labeled the Progressive ticket.

At the hour of going to press none of the startling election thefts as heralded by the Progressive organ had come to light in the Pfanz-Foster case, the evidences of corruption being only minor and on a trifling scale. The train will leave the Union Depot, Seventh and the river, at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

LOSS TO CITY.

The large circle of friends of Bernard J. Jansing were grieved to learn of his death Thursday morning at his home, 4314 West Chestnut street, the result of an illness of Bright's disease. Mr. Jansing was a native of this city and fifty-five years old. He was President of the Louisville Cider and Vinegar Works and was prominent in everything calculated to advance Louisville's material interest. Loved by family and friends, and respected by those with whom business brought him in contact, his passing away is sincerely mourned. His widow, who was formerly Miss Mary Elizabeth Byrne; a brother, John D. Jansing, and a sister, Mrs. Bettie Gunterman, survive him. The funeral will take place this morning and will be attended by the Knights of Columbus, of which the deceased was for years a member.

QUETLY WEDDED.

The marriage of Miss Anna C. Winn and Carl P. Ellwanger was quietly solemnized last Saturday at the rectory of the Cathedral of the Assumption, the Rev. Father Rock officiating. There were no attendants and only the immediate members of the family were present at the ceremony. The bride was attired in a tasteful gown of white satin with trimmings of lace and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Mr. and Mrs. Ellwanger left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip East, and upon their return they will be at home at the Weisinger-Gaulbert.

CONSISTENCY?

The local Trades and Labor Assembly has selected Charles Dobbs for Labor day orator. Dobbs is associate editor of a non-union publication and one of our leading Socialists, both of above facts hardly being consistent with union labor principles.

WILSON AND MEXICO.

The relations between the United States and Mexico reached a most acute stage this week, but what the final outcome will be none can yet tell. That President Wilson has acquitted himself with high credit during the negotiations all men acknowledge. The people of the country, regardless of party or other difference, approve the course of the President, not one discordant note being heard. President Wilson exercised the highest judgment when he chose ex-Gov. John Lind as his messenger to Mexico. That he wisely kept his own counsel and head while the situation was such that any lack of discretion or of diplomacy might have greatly increased the difficulties of this country, is borne out by the President's message to Congress. The situation is well summed up by Henry Watterson, not a great admirer of the President, who says "the country is to be congratulated, and is congratulating itself, upon the manner in which progress has been made away from the disaster of invasion and a bloody war, with far-reaching ill consequences despite the certainty of a sorry victory for the United States, and toward a denouement that will leave America upon record as a clean-handed and disinterested advocate of peace and advancement in Mexico and in other countries in the South."

FATHER TIERNEY'S ADVICE.

Addressing the Fourth International Congress on School Hygiene at Buffalo on Wednesday, the Rev. Richard J. Tierney, S. J., of Woodstock College, Maryland, stated the Catholic attitude toward the problems under discussion. Father Tierney declared that while his convictions were not favorable to the movement in all its details, neither were they adverse. "Eliminate the details of sex hygiene; train character; teach that purity is noble and possible; that vice is vile and carries its own punishment; that marriage is inviolable; that the family is sacred. Knowledge is not moral power. Christ, not hygiene, will cleanse the world," was his advice. He also urged the abolition of "animal dances" and the discontinuance of co-educational institutions for senior students.

PURPOSE EXPOSED.

The leaders of the Socialist trade union movement of Germany seem to anticipate the growth of a Christian trade union movement in this country, or at least the growth of a Christian influence in the existing trade union bodies. To prevent the growth of such a movement and to exert an influence in favor of Socialist control over the trade unions of our country, the General Commission of Trade Unions of Germany, a Socialist organization, has just recently issued a publication in English, for distribution in the United States, on the "Church and the Trade Unions in Germany." A Socialist member of the Reichstag, Dr. A. Erdmann, is the author of the pamphlet. The treatise is carefully worded and care is taken not to offend the religious belief of any worker in or outside of the Socialist movement. The evident purpose of the pamphlet, however, is to discredit both the Christian trade union movement and the Catholic workingmen's associations of Germany, and by inference the influence of similar institutions, present or future, in this country also. The pamphlet is furthermore designed to answer the defense of the Christian trade unions of Germany, published by the Central Verein about a year ago and sent to all the officials of the American Federation of Labor. This pamphlet shows anew the zeal with which Socialists campaign for the control of the labor movement. This new attack will, we confidently believe, be answered in the same satisfactory manner as was the former one.

CONTRASTED.

Arthur B. Krock makes a striking contrast between the letters that passed between this country and Mexico this past week and President Wilson's message to Congress. The President's stately message, breathing kindness, sympathy and peace toward Mexico, advising Congress to wait for the inevitable downfall of Huerta, yet ringing with the force of a drastic action, provided virtually a racial contrast to the reply of Gamboa. It was Anglo-Saxon versus Spanish-American; the one broad, tolerant, patient, yet full of sorrowful prophecy; the other divided between veiled sneers and grandiose representations of pitiable realities. There was never anything more Mexican than the letter of Gamboa to Lind.

The gist of the President's suggestions to Congress were that the Mexican situation must be given more time to work itself out; that in the meantime he will deny arms to all factions of the republic, including Huerta, and that all Americans who are physically able should leave Mexico at once in view of the fresh conflict which will shortly be raging.

The Most Rev. Patrick William Riordan, Archbishop of San Francisco, a lion of the true fold, celebrated the seventy-second anniversary of his birth on Wednesday. This distinguished churchman was ordained June 10, 1865, and consecrated September 16, 1883. He succeeded to the Archbishopric the Most Rev. Joseph Sadoc Alemany, O. P., who resigned in 1884.

The Catholic Union and Times notes that in spite of all the excitement on the part of politicians, the people seem to be quite complacent.

If Thaw could be held, why not Jack Johnson?

IRISH JOURNALIST'S WORDS.

One of the most engaging of contemporary English Catholic writers is Philip Gibbs. In his latest book Gibbs puts into the mouth of an Irish journalist these touching words regarding the Blessed Virgin: "My boy, the reverence of divine womanhood in the sacred and beautiful figure of Our Lady is very cleansing to the filthy hearts of men. The thought of divine motherhood and virgin innocence drags them out of the mire. It gives them a bright vision, to which they grope their way through the darkness of their own sinfulness. That is why the Irish people never indulge in the black, unnatural vices of humanity. God knows many of them are weak, many of them are brutal, but the memory of the 'Hall Mary,' taught them in the old cabin and the little church, comes singing into their ears when the devil lures them to the blackest pits. And even if they descend to the lowest depths, the face of the Madonna looks down at them; and with one 'Ave Maria,' shouted from a tortured heart, they leap out of the clutches of the foul fiend and stretch out their hands to the Mother of Mercy."

STOOD LONG YEARS.

When old Trinity church, known as Trinity school, will be torn down (which is to take place shortly) the oldest ecclesiastical building, and probably the oldest building in the District of Columbia, will be demolished. The old church, which stands on a site which overlooked the Potomac in the early days when its doors were open to worshippers, was erected in 1788 by Father Francis Noale. No building in the District has seen the history that the old Trinity has seen. Georgetown College, which was founded in 1789, a year after the erection of this church, still has some of its original buildings standing, but its founding is in part due to the pioneers who first broke ground for a church. When Georgetown was a primitive settlement Father Neale, in company with a zealous band of members of the Society of Jesus, came to that site, and despite the obstacles which were prevalent in those days, when one had to battle with both beasts and Indians, they planted the first church in the District of Columbia—and for that reason "Holy Trinity" has been characterized as "the cradle of Catholicity in the District." The church was standing as a place of worship when the British came on Washington in 1812 and burned the Capitol. During the civil war its sanctuary was used to harbor the wounded Federal soldiers and adopted by the Federal Government as a hospital.

SQUELCHED.

It is said that A. C. Veatch, the virulent anti-Catholic editor of the Sovereign Odd Fellow, has been called down by the Grand Sire of the order for his attack on Catholics, and the Grand Lodge is to consider Veatch's case at its September meeting.

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Herbig, of 1021 East Brookridge street, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary last Sunday, the occasion being especially remembered with a solemn nuptial mass at St. Martin's church, where both are life long members. An all-day reception was held at the family residence, which was thronged from early morn until late in the evening with friends offering their congratulations and best wishes to the popular and respected couple. The Concordia Singing Society rendered a special programme in the evening in honor of the occasion. Among the out-of-town guests were Leo Herbig and wife, of Jasper, Ind.

BILL OF HEALTH.

At the meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., on Monday evening in Bertrand Hall, Chairman Michael Doyle, of the Visiting Committee, reported that his committee was idle at present, no one being on the sick list, this being the first situation of this kind in two years. J. J. Meany, of the Division Picnic Committee, reported that there had been a good sale of tickets for last Tuesday's picnic and that his committee would have a full report at the next meeting. President W. J. Connelly was present and urged loyal support of the picnic, being followed by President John H. Hennessy, who named a committee of twelve to have charge of the dancing hall.

GAYETY THEATER.

The Gayety Theater management feels elated over the success attending its opening week. Next week's offering will be "Lavender and Old Lace," a play that should appeal especially to the patronage for which the Gayety bids this season. It is a clean drama, founded upon a book by Myrtle Reed, and will be presented by a company of specially selected and capable people. For this engagement there will be the usual week day matinees—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday—with an extra matinee for Monday, Labor day.

PAY MORE THAN WAY.

A cry has been raised by a certain number of narrow-minded, bigots about imposing a tax upon the property of the church. The Government of our country is favoring human Catholics too much, they say, because it exempts their churches and schools. It doesn't seem to occur to these people that that same church is saving this same Government upward of $50,000,000 annually, exclusive of cost of plants, in educating about a million and a half of the children of the land. If the question of a quid pro quo between Church and State is looked into very closely, it will be found that the Catholic church is much more than paying its way.—Providence Visitor.

RETURNS TO TRENTON.

Rev. Joseph Schunicht, O. M. C., who has been here on a two weeks' visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schunicht, Twenty-first and Madison streets, left yesterday for Trenton, N. J., where he is stationed at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Father Schunicht spent some time with his brothers and sisters, and also with the Franciscan fathers at St. Anthony's church, in which parish he was born and received his early training and celebrated his first mass.

LOTTO GARDEN PARTY.

The members of St. Joseph's congregation will give a garden party at the residence of Matthew Poschinger, Vernon and Sycamore avenue, on Labor day. Various games and amusements will be had in the afternoon for the little folks, and lotto will be played at 2:30 and 8:15 o'clock. In addition to other forms of entertainment there will be a band concert in the evening. The proceeds will go toward the building of the addition to the parochial school.

FRIENDS PLEASED.

The many friends of Capt. John E. Schmidt will be glad to learn that it will not be necessary to amputate his arm, which was injured in a street car accident three weeks ago, and that his physician states that there will be no permanent injury. The genial Captain's well arm is in danger of being injured from the handshaking of his many callers.

BOWLING GREEN.

The Rev. Charles P. Raffo and Thomas W. White were in Bowling Green on Wednesday, where they assisted at the nuptial mass of Rev. Father Hayes' niece, Miss Elizabeth M. Curtin, and James J. Donovan, both of New York City. Father Raffo was the deacon of the mass and Father White master of ceremonies. Father Hayes entertained the wedding party, the visiting clergy and the church choir with an informal reception, after which the bride and groom left for the East.

SISTERS AT RETREAT.

There were over 1,200 Sisters of Providence in attendance at the annual retreat at St. Mary of the Woods in Indiana. Their presence added greatly to the impressiveness of the ceremony when Bishop Chatard, of Indianapolis, administered the vows to the twenty-two young ladies who received the habit of the order.

ENJOYABLE VACATION.

Rev. Edmund Kaiser, O. M. C., pastor of St. Peter's church, Seventeenth and Southgate, will return today from Philadelphia, his old home, where he has been spending a most enjoyable two weeks' vacation. Father Frederick, O. M. C., who had charge during his absence, will return to St. Francis Monastery, Floyd Knobs, Ind., and next week resume his duties as professor of languages.

INVESTITURE.

Two Louisville young men, Herman Partusch and John Staebble, received the habit of the Franciscan order at the recent investiture at St. Anthony's Monastery, Mt. Airy, Ohio. They will be known as Brother Peter Canisius and Brother Otto. A number of their Louisville relatives and friends were present to witness the ceremony.

CATHOLIC WOMEN ORGANIZE.

Ten thousand members are expected to be enrolled in the Federation of Catholic Women's Societies, organized at a meeting at the Santa Maria Institute in Cincinnati last Sunday. The women are forming their own federation because they were denied representation in the Hamilton County Federation of Catholic Societies, composed of men.

GEORGETOWN.

The Rev. Father William J. Whearty, pastor of St. John's church at Georgetown, in the Covington diocese, is in Rochester, N. Y., for a visit of several weeks with relatives.

GAELIC TO BE TAUGHT.

The list of courses available to students of the University of California the coming year will total ninety-eight, according to the curriculum made public by the university authorities. Courses in two Celtic tongues, Irish and Welsh, are the latest additions.

CROWDS IN DUBLIN.

This is horse show week in Dublin, Ireland, and there has been a great influx of fashionable visitors. Walter H. Page, the American Ambassador, and Mrs. Page are the guests of the Lord Lieutenant.

LOVE THE FLAG.

"What a meaning the American flag has for every generous soul," says the Rev. Dr. Cotter in the Catholic Union and Times. "It typifies the constitution which will serve as a model for generations yet unborn—a constitution fashioned by the fathers of the republic, preserved by their sons, who gave their swords as a fence of steel around and about America, to guard her and keep her as holy ground where liberty might dare to live and slavery would have to die—a constitution, the fruitage of the Christian Scriptures, wherein canonized saints of the Catholic church treasured the outpourings of the Saviour's loving heart and mind divine."

CATHOLIC TEACHING.

In our Sunday-schools we teach our children, not of the iniquities of Protestant London or Protestant Berlin, nor of the ignorance of Protestant communities here or there in the world. We teach them to love and fear God, and tell them with detail and particularly of their duties to God and to men; of sin, and of the things by the Ten Commandments of God. There are no

LIVELY AT CLIFF HAVEN.

A week of beautiful weather and brilliant social events marked the close of the month of August at Cliff Haven. The summer colony, inspired by the warm days which have characterized the whole month of August, are prolonging their stay here later than they have in past years, and many of the guests have expressed their intention of remaining at Cliff Haven until after Labor day. Social activity will continue with unabated vigor until the middle of September and the Summer School expects to entertain many people until that date. The lecture courses during the week were conducted by Edward J. Fortier, Ph. D., of Columbia University, New York; the Rev. Terence J. Shealy, S. J., of New York, and the Hon. Thomas H. Dowd, D. L. B., of Boston.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.

The rage for tulle in all forms increases. All the best millinery studios are exhibiting tulle hats. Tight gloves may cause red nose and irregular heart action. Tight high and stiff collars are responsible for many ugly necks. New beauty veils in heliotrope tulle are having an immense success. Cut jet earrings, when the design is thin and graceful, are wonderfully becoming. Shortness of breath and heart palpitation are often due to the use of ill-fitting corsets. Remember a too narrow skirt can change beauty into ugliness. The size of the brain can be judged accordingly.

POTATO DOUGHNUTS.

One large cup of hot mashed potato creamed with one heaping cup of granulated sugar, two-thirds cup of sweet milk and two tablespoons of melted lard. Add two well beaten eggs and three tablespoons of baking powder, a pinch of salt and nutmeg to taste. Use flour enough to roll, cut in rings and fry in hot lard. They will remain moist indefinitely.

FIRE FIGHTER DEAD.

The funeral of John Morris, who died of pneumonia, was held Monday morning from the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Patrick Walsh officiating at the mass of requiem and preaching a feeling sermon. Deceased was a native of Louisville, and since 1898 had been a member of the fire department. His death was indirectly due to exposure while fighting a fire at Eighth and Market last April. Besides his wife, who before her marriage was Margaret McCue, he leaves several children.

LABOR DAY EVENT.

An unusual event will be the dedication of three parochial schools in Ottawa, Ill., on Labor day. Three distinguished prelates will participate in the event. Most Rev. John Bonzano, Apostolic Delegate, will officiate at the dedication of St. Columba's High School; Archbishop Quigley will dedicate St. Patrick's, and Bishop Muldoon St. Francis. There will be an address by Bishop Dunne, of Peoria, on "Christian Education." Congressman Graham and the Apostolic Delegate will also deliver addresses.

LEXINGTON.

With a nuptial mass and in the presence of many friends the marriage of Miss Katherine D. Looney and Frank O. Updike was solemnized Tuesday morning in St. Paul's church at Lexington, the Rev. Father De Waegenare performing the ceremony. Owing to the popularity of the bride and groom throughout the Bluegrass region the wedding was one of the society events of the summer season.

PEWEE VALLEY.

The third of the series of lotto parties for the benefit of St. Aloysius' church, Pewee Valley, given by St. Rita's Guild, will take place next Monday night at Gambirinus Hall, Shelby and Roselane, the games to begin at 8:30 o'clock. These parties have been well attended and were greatly enjoyed by all present. Many handsome and valuable prizes will be awarded at this party.

VISITS PRIEST BROTHER.

The Rev. Alphonse Wilberding, O. M. C., who has been the guest of his brother, the Rev. Alexander Wilberding, O. F. M., pastor of St. Joseph's church on East Washington street, will leave today for Cincinnati, where he is professor of Latin, mathematics and history at St. Francis College.

ST. MARTIN'S.

Tomorrow the anniversary of the Sodality of St. Rose of Lima, composed of 200 young women of St. Martin's congregation, Shelby and Gray streets, will be celebrated. The celebration will begin with a solemn high mass at 7 o'clock in the morning, when the members will receive holy communion. In the afternoon at 2:30 solemn vespers will be sung, with a special sermon and benediction.

YOUNG SISTER HERE.

Sister Mary Catherine, of the Sisters of Mercy, was here on a visit this past week, and during her stay was at the Sacred Heart Academy, where she was visited by many of her local friends. Sister Mary Catherine before taking the veil was Miss Mary Smith and is a daughter of Lawrence Smith.

FRIED OYSTERS AGAIN.

William Caruso Repetto announces that fried oysters are in season at the A. L. Kolb emporium, 323 West Green street, of which he is manager. In addition "Billy" is ready to tip off his wide circle of acquaintances as to the coming good shows.

SCIENTIST AT VESUVIUS.

Prof. Mercalli, priest and world renowned seismic expert, who has succeeded the Prof. Mateucci and says mass in a tiny oratory on the volcano, declares that most of the reports as to the state of Vesuvius are invented or exaggerated.

CAUSED HEAVY DAMAGE.

The damage to St. Joseph's Institute at Techon, Ill., from the fire when the building was struck by lightning, will approximate $70,000.

SEES THE POPE.

The Holy Father last Sunday received in private audience the Right Rev. J. M. Laval, Auxiliary Bishop of New Orleans. Bishop Laval will spend some time in Europe.

BOYS IN CAMP.

The work of supplying summer camps for Catholic boys has been very satisfactory in various parts of the country. The purpose of the camps is to furnish healthful amusement while preserving the boys from moral contamination.

OLDEST WESTERN CHURCH.

St. Ferdinand's church at Florissant, a village near St. Louis, of which the Rev. Michael Speich, S. J., is the pastor, celebrated its one hundred and twenty-first anniversary on Wednesday. Chief among the attractions was the half-pound rusty key used to open the church door at the dedication in 1792. For forty years they key was guarded by the late Capt. Steudoman. He had obtained it from Father Vanash, then pastor of the church, whose stones have withstood crumbling for more than a century. It is a landmark in St. Louis county, and is perhaps the oldest in the West. At the time it was built heavy bolts and massive keys were needed to keep off the Indians.

Some new hat pins are very beautiful. They are rather large and invariably match the hat with which they are worn. The deep yellow face powders have gone quite out of fashion. For one woman that it suited there were at least fifty that it disfigured.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Fully 5,000 visitors witnessed the field day contests of the Minneapolis Hibernians.

Division 1 meets Tuesday night. President Tarry calls upon all members to attend.

Only words of praise are heard for the committee that conducted the Phoenix Hill reunion.

Five divisions of the Ladies' Auxiliary are being organized in the vicinity of Pittsburgh.

The divisions of Pittsburgh made a total profit of $4,600 on their recent Irish day celebration.

The State and local officers participated in the observance of German day at New Britain, Conn.

Our Ladies' Auxiliary will have a jubilee meeting Wednesday night. They will hear some most gratifying reports.

The new Hibernian building on Dudley street, Boston, will be dedicated October 1. Its cost will be $125,000.

Never was there a happier or better appearing gathering at Phoenix Hill than that of the Hibernians on Tuesday night.

The New Orleans Ladies' Auxiliary has met with much success in having Irish history reading introduced in parochial schools.

To increase the membership, Division 1 of Nashville, N. H., at its last meeting closed a recruiting contest and awarded three prizes.

The Cape Breton divisions held a great celebration to commemorate the anniversary of Daniel O'Connell, the great Irish patriot, in Sydney.

Mayor Karb issued a proclamation calling upon all to suspend business and participate in the Hibernian celebration Thursday at Columbus, Ohio.

There will be a meeting of Division 3 Monday night. Some important business will be transacted and therefore the officers look for a big attendance.

The Ladies' Auxiliary was everywhere in evidence at the Hibernian reunion Tuesday night. Without them there would be neither pleasure nor success.

The attendance at the Hibernian field day in Buffalo was over 20,000. Music was furnished by the Hibernian Band, which had a similar celebration last Sunday.

Division 8 of Baltimore has seven teams waging a summer campaign for members. Each of the seven captains is a picked man and the contest promises to be memorable and successful.

Right Rev. Bishop Hartley, Gov. Cox, Attorney General Hogan, Mayor Karb and Judge Dillon were the announced speakers for the Irish day celebration of the Hibernians at Columbus, Ohio.

Prof. Michael G. Rohan and Mrs. Mary McWhorter presented the National Board meeting with encouraging reports of the progress being made along educational lines for Irish history and literature.

One of the largest classes in the history of the Ladies' Auxiliary will have the degrees conferred in Pittsburgh during October. Over 500 candidates have already signified their intention of taking the degrees.

Division 2 will hold its regular meeting next Thursday night at Thirteenth and Oak. It is hinted that a fall campaign may be inaugurated that will double the membership. Every member is urged to be present.

PICNIC AND SUPPER.

The St. Francis of Assisi church picnic next Wednesday promises to be a record breaker. For some time past Father Rothwell and the committee in charge have been working hard and promise an interesting day to all who attend. They say that enough supplies have been contracted for to take care of any emergencies. One of the features of the picnic will be the meals served in the late afternoon and early evening. The Jefferson street and Bardstown cars pass the grounds.

FANS PUZZLED.

Although the fans are satisfied with the showing of the Colonels during the past week, many are puzzled why Manager Hayden removed Rudy Hulswitt from the lineup, replacing him with a weaker hitter, no better fielder and of less aggressiveness, and from a general standpoint Hulswitt is picked all over the circuit in preference to Downey. Four regulars on the team roster are hitting below Hulswitt in average—Burch, Weinberg, Beumiller and Stansbury, the latter's weakness with the stick being directly responsible for the loss of many games. Indignation was expressed on all sides this past week for the comment in the Courier-Journal's column reading Hulswitt out of the game forever, that his baseball days were over, etc., this coming as a surprise to the many who still want him in the game. The Colonels play at Indianapolis tomorrow and a double-header is scheduled for Monday, then they come home for a three-game series with Toledo before making their tour of the Western cities. This year's showing under owner Wathen should have been made a special exhibit in the made-in-Louisville displays according to the general opinion of the baseball public, who are pleased to see the town once more on the baseball map.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The Rev. E. J. Scanlan has been elected Chairman of the new Birr Urban Technical Committee.

The total amount realized in the annual collection made in the diocese of Dublin for His Holiness the Pope reached about $8,000.

Joseph Cody, of Ballyfoyle, County Kilkenny, has been appointed to the headmastership of the Catholic schools in Bunhill row, Moorefields, London, W. C.

The late George Healy, of Hollybrook road, Clontarf, retired printer, a former Alderman of Dublin, left personal estate valued at $300,000, which he bequeathed to his family.

The Queen's County Council decided by a majority not to erect a county sanatorium, believing that the scheme would be undesirable financially and that the site was objectionable.

The County Armagh Committee of Agriculture and Technical Instruction has unanimously elected Messrs. T. A. McClure, J. P., and A. Robinson, J. P., Chairman and Vice Chairman respectively.

James Farnan and Andrew Michael Carmel were seriously injured about the arms and legs by an explosion of dynamite at a quarry near Ballybay, where they were engaged in blasting operations.

The death has occurred, at the age of ninety-six, of James Joyce, a popular South Carlow farmer. He has fifty-two grandchildren and eight great-grand children. The funeral was a remarkably large one.

Much regret is felt in Macroom at the death in the prime of life of P. D. O'Connell, tobaccoist, who was popular in the town. In Limerick, where he lived for a number of years, he was prominent in Gaelic sporting circles.

Two bathers, Michael Mallon, of Monynick, and Edward Liddy, of Derrylough, were drowned at the Little Strand, Portstewart. The victims were carried out to sea by the strong tide, and before assistance arrived they had disappeared.

The lessees of the lime and basalt quarries at Magheramorne, County Antrim, it is understood, have schemes in hand for the development of the limestone deposits under their lease which call for a large increase in the number of men employed.

Deep regret is felt in Castlereagh at the removal to Ballinahughish of the Rev. W. F. Devine, who had become highly popular and esteemed during his two years' zealous ministrations in the town. He is succeeded in Castlereagh by Rev. Thomas Hanly, Four Roads.

To the deep regret of the community, of which she was a devoted member for twenty-seven years, the death took place of Sister M. Brendan, of the Presentation Convent, Lixnaw. Deceased was daughter of the late Edward Dee, of Kilmacshamus, County Waterford.

The Rev. Richard Kavanagh, of Gorey, has been appointed assistant to the Rev. J. Hartley, of Cushinstown; the Rev. R. Browne, of Biddisford, assistant to the Rev. P. Kehoe, of Clonroche; and Rev. J. Kelly, of Camolin, chaplain to the Good Shepherds' Convent, New Ross.

STATE FAIR ENTRY LIST.

Entries have been coming in fast for the various events scheduled for the eleventh annual Kentucky State Fair to be held in Louisville the week of September 15-20. Never in fair history has a like exhibition attracted as nationally prominent exhibitors or representatives from so wide a radius. The American Berkshire Congress, held here for the first time, will arouse general and widespread interest and will bring here the finest show herds. Most notable will be the exhibition of J. B. Haggins, of Lexington, which will include his prize Shorthorns, Jerseys, Berkshires and Tamworths. The horse entries for the big $2,000 Commissioner of Agriculture stake also insure one of the most exciting struggles ever inaugurated.

FERRY FINAL WEEK.

Crowds continue to crowd Fontaine Ferry, where Manager Bilger will present a vaudeville of much merit. Five acts will be shown at each performance, and they will outdo, if possible, every one of the past season. Unusual in every feature will be the series of free open air concerts to be given by Natiello and his band, who are determined to leave a reputation second to none and bid fair to succeed handsomely. The swimming pool and other amusement devices will also make popular appeal to pleasure seekers at this popular place.
